With bright green hair, colourful costumes and a warm smile, Kiki the Eco Elf is thrilled to be here today entertaining young and old alike. Having toured Western Canada for the last 3 years, spreading joy, positivity and awareness for environmental issues and sustainability, Kiki is excited to share her latest songs, dance moves, games and stories, and hopes that you will join in her interactive songs and embrace going “green”.

FOR YOUR PROGRAMS

Award-winning Canadian singer-song writer Tanya Lipscomb has been performing on stages across Canada for well over a decade. With her contagious enthusiasm, larger than life stage presence, education in early childhood education and a concern for the planet, it was only natural for her to leap onto the children’s entertainment stage as her alter-ego “Kiki the Eco Elf”.

Sporting green hair, donning colourful costumes, delivering elaborate stories and performing a fantastic array of environmentally conscientious songs, Kiki has made her way across Western Canada performing for families at festivals, fairs, community events, and in schools and libraries. During any given performance, you can witness Kiki weaving words into rap songs, strumming her guitar and mandolin, whipping out an interactive game show or sharing stories about sustainability and gratitude.

With topics such as the 3 Rs (reduce, reuse, recycle), protection of land diversity, animal protection and alternative energy sources, Kiki’s goal is to inspire new generations to think about the future. With an emphasis on NOW being the time to make changes and choices that are necessary to help and heal the earth, Kiki empowers and encourages children along the path towards environmental awareness.
